Ontario ARC provides pre-screened candidates to potential employers, who are accompanied to interviews by a placement specialist. We provide a job coach with every individual who assists in the training of the new employee, thus saving the employer training costs. The job coach is available to the employer even after the individual has learned the requirements of the job either for retraining or to provide support. We are available to meet with the employer's staff to explain who we are and how to interact with the individual and the job coach to insure everyone is comfortable with the new hire.
