Ontario ARC provides pre-screened candidates to potential employers, who are accompanied to interviews by a placement specialist. We provide a job coach with every individual who assists in the training of the new employee, thus saving the employer training costs. The job coach is available to the employer even after the individual has learned the requirements of the job either for retraining or to provide support. We are available to meet with the employer's staff to explain who we are and how to interact with the individual and the job coach to insure everyone is comfortable with the new hire.

Wayne ARC's "Key Industries" Program can provide an underutilized work force of ambitious and talented individuals that are ready to make a contribution to your workplace. We provide a team approach to assisting people with disabilities in meeting the needs of the employer. Our individuals would be accompanied by a job coach to train the individuals to meet the employer expectations, including timeliness and dependability. The job coach services are at no cost to the employer. We provide on-going supports to the employee and employer to meet their staffing needs with qualified employees.
