

1. Which of the following items are elements of EBTs (select all that apply)?
 - a. A structured approach to treatment in which key elements are clearly defined.
 - c. Treatment defined for a group of people that can be changed without research and evaluation.
 - d. Methods that are updated to reflect changes in scientific knowledge.
2. What 3 criteria are used to evaluate treatments (select all that apply)?
 - a. Effective strategies and methods.
 - c. Process factors.
 - d. Quality of life and maintenance.
3. What is the importance of EBT for adolescents and adults with autism?
 - a. EBTs provide specific evidence for effectiveness so providers know what works before it is used.
4. Why is skill assessment important?
 - b. To understand which skills will be beneficial to teach by showing what an individual can already do and what needs to be taught.
5. What is the difference between indirect and direct observation?
 - c. Indirect observations rely on reported observations, while direct observations are assessments of behavior in the natural environment.
6. What is an operational definition?
 - b. Definitions that describe behavior in objective, measurable terms.