

1. What is fading?
 - a. A process of gradually removing prompts as the behavior begins to occur within the teaching situation.
2. An example of within-stimulus fading would be:
 - a. The gradual fading of the size of an exit sign when an individual is learning to discriminate between exit and enter signs.
3. An example of extra-stimulus fading would be:
 - a. The gradual removal of an additional stimulus prompt, such as decreasing the loudness of music used to signal cleaning time.
