

1. What is behavior?
 - d. All of the above.
2. A good operational definition for behavior will:
 - a. Provide a clear and precise definition that describes observable and measurable events.
3. What is inter-observer agreement (select all that apply)?
 - b. The amount of agreement between two independent observers of the same behavior.
 - c. A clear and precise measure of the amount or type of behavior that was observed.
4. Which of the following are program goals (select all that apply)?
 - a. Acquisition, acceleration, & deceleration.
 - c. Maintenance, generalization, & mastery.
5. Which of the following 3 items are components of a behavior program after selecting a target behavior and a program goal (select all that apply)?
 - a. Steps to reach desired outcome with defined mastery criteria.
 - c. The reinforcer that will be used for the behavior at each step.
 - d. The prompting procedure that will be used to help the individual learn the skill.